F. Bibliography

This bibliography is not intended as a complete list of publications in each area. Treat it as a sample of works you may want to read if you want to know more about a topic. Required readings are indicated by an *. They are all available in my office. You can sign them out but make sure you return them to my office within two hours.

IRAL = International Review of Applied Linguistics
LL = Language Learning
MLJ = Modern Language Journal
SLR = Second Language Research
SSLA = Studies in Second Language Acquisition

1. SLA: An Emerging Field

1a. Contrastive analysis

1b. Error analysis

1c. Morpheme studies

2. Linguistic Approaches to SLA

2a. Typological Universals

2b. Tense and Aspect

2c. Universal Grammar

3. Sociolinguistic Approaches to SLA

3a. The Acculturation Model

3b. Interlanguage Variations

4. Cognitive Approaches to SLA

4a. The monitor model

4b. The Information Processing Model

5. Psycholinguistic Approaches to SLA

5a. The Competition Model

5b. L2 Processing and Production

6. Applied Linguistic Approaches to SLA: Input, Output, and Interaction

7. Language Transfer in SLA

8. Age differences in SLA

9. Other Non-Linguistic Factors in SLA

9a. Motivation, Attitude, and Social Distance

9b. Aptitude and Intelligence

9c. Anxiety and Personality

9d. Gender

9e. Cognitive style--field dependence vs. field independence

10. The Role of Instruction in SLA

11. The Bilingual lexicon
11a. Vocabulary acquisition in L2

11b. Bilingual Lexical Organization

15. Neurolinguistics of SLA

