THE PROGRAM

The Georgia State University Program – Landscapes of Memory: History, Culture and Historic Preservation in Venice, offers an exciting 19-day study abroad experience. The program is designed to deepen the students' understanding of the history of Venice and Veneto region of Italy, its culture and how the city and region are working to preserve their historic cultural sites, parks and landscapes.

The program will consider the ways in which history is selectively remembered, preserved and presented to the public. Students will develop skills in combining and communicating the results of field experiences and research. Visits to historic sites, parks, and landscapes will be interspersed with lectures and discussion led by the instructor and local experts in the field.

In addition to visiting historic and cultural sites in the city, participants will take day trips to cities in the Veneto region. Sites to be visited will include:

- The principal historic sites and museums of Venice, including Doge Palace, Saint Mark's Square, Jewish Ghetto and a day trip in the Venice lagoon visiting some of the most famous Islands
- Villas designed by Andrea Palladio
- A day trip to a Roman archeological site: the city of Aquileia
- A day trip to the medieval city of Feltre
- A day trip to the Vicenza, the city where Palladio studied and began his practice

The program will be under the direction of Richard Laub, Director of the Heritage Preservation Program in the Department of History.

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants will stay in a quality local accommodation in the city of Venice.

ELIGIBILITY

This program is offered to all students at the graduate level. Undergraduates may take the course, with instructor approval, as a Directed Reading. Alumni and preservation professionals are also welcome.

CREDIT

Students wishing to receive academic credit will register for HIST 8660, Case Studies in International Preservation, for Summer 2007 Term. Undergraduates can register for the credits as a Directed Readings under HIST 4999.

All participants will attend an orientation session on April 7, 2007 at Georgia State University. Upon successful completion of the program, students will earn three semester hours.

COST

Program costs may vary according to currency fluctuations and travel arrangements. The cost is tentatively set at $ 2,500. Students also pay regular Georgia State University tuition and fees. Non-resident/out-of-state students will pay in-state tuition plus a $250 fee in addition to the program cost.

Scholarships are available to Georgia State students through the Georgia State University IEF Study Abroad Scholarship Program and the Georgia State University Foundation Study Abroad Scholarship. Contact Study Abroad Programs, Office of International Affairs, 404/654-5819, for more information.
